Julius Caesar – Act II
Anzalone

What is a motif?

Quote	Speaker	What does it mean?
“Do not stain the even virtue of our enterprise . . . To think that our cause . . . Did need an oath when every drop of blood that every Roman bears cements the promises he makes” (II.i).
“Our course will seem too bloody ” when Cassius asks if they should kill Marc Antony too” (II.i)
“We all stand up against the spirit of Caesar, and in the spirit of men there is no blood ” (II.i).
“Caesar must bleed for it!” (II.i).
“You are . . . As dear to me as are the ruddy drops that visit my sad heart” (II.i).
