

In Adventures of Huckleberry Finn, Huck and other characters speak to Jim in two different ways: a demeaning way and a dignified way. In chapters 1-11, document how Huck and these characters interact with Jim. Then, provide an explanation for why Jim is treated so. An example has been provided for you below.

Demeaning Definition:	Dignified Definition:	Reason for Interaction
	“I do believe that he just cares as much for his people as white folk do theirs” (155). - Huck	- Learned from Society - True Ignorance - Learned through self-reflection Huck learns this through self-reflection and his one-on-one discussions with Jim. Jim reveals to Huck that he has a family, and Huck realizes Jim deserves to have one.
