

I think Eva Evilipa trashed Chef Pash's kitchen because we found four pens and out of those pens, the pen from the Downtown Office Building was the correct one. We used Chromatography to find which one it was.

Then, we discovered Baking soda in Eva's office. We found Baking soda in Pash's kitchen as well. We also found footprints that looked like they'd stepped into a white powder.

So we did an experiment to see if the white stuff was actually Baking soda. Substance B was the baking soda.

So then, I suspected Eva Evilipa. She was the one who'd crashed Chef Pash's kitchen. All the clues were coming together and narrowing down to her. And, because she is her ex-wife, maybe she wanted revenge of some sort. I think Eva Evilipa had crashed Chef Pash's kitchen.

