Daily 4

The Daily 4 has been running very well in our room! In case you don't know, the four Dailies are Read to Self, Read to Someone, Work on Writing, and Word Work. I am allowing the students to bring in stuffed animals to keep in their cubbies in case their Read to Someone partner gets pulled for a reading group. That way the students still have someone to listen to their reading!

Thank You!

I would like to thank all of the parents who were able to help with our fall celebration. The kids had a lot of fun and it was a great way to end the month!

Book Bags

Be looking for a small book in a plastic baggie to come home soon! This will be your child's book bag for the week. Please have your child practice reading this at home to you at least twice before returning it the next week on the day indicated on the bag. If the book is not returned on the correct day I won't be able to read with your child that week due to other students being scheduled on the remaining days of the week.

Book Orders

I sent both the November and December book orders home this week. They are due Nov. 16th. I also included an activation code in case you wanted to order books yourself through the website. To order, go to www.scholastic.com/bookclubs. Click to register and create a username and password. When prompted, give our class activation code (GR6KP). Pick which books you would like and then send your orders to me online (it should tell you to do this when you're done ordering). Scholastic will send me the books you ordered and I'll send them home. Also, if you would like any of the books you ordered to be a surprise for Christmas, send me a note or email and I'll make sure the books stay hidden when they arrive.
