Overview of the Examination

In April 1994 nurse licensure candidates began taking the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX®) on a computer at test centers located across the United States and its territories. The change to computerized adaptive testing (CAT) for the nurse licensure examination came about as a result of a decision made in August 1991 by the National Council of State Boards of Nursing (NCSBN). The NCLEX examinations are only provided in a computerized adaptive testing format.

Pearson Professional Testing provides test development and test administration services for the NCLEX Examination.

What is the NCLEX® Examination?

The NCLEX® examination is designed to test knowledge, skills and abilities essential to the safe and effective practice of nursing at the entry level. NCLEX examination results are an important component used by boards of nursing to make decisions about licensure. Only boards of nursing can release NCLEX examination results to candidates.

The NCLEX examination is administered in the United States, American Samoa, the District of Columbia, Guam, the Northern Mariana Islands, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. The NCLEX examination is also administered internationally at Pearson Professional Centers. For a complete list of international test centers, please go to www.pearsonvue.com/nclex or www.ncsbn.org. The use of the same examination by all jurisdictions facilitates licensure by endorsement from one jurisdiction to another.

Eligibility Requirements

To take the NCLEX examination, candidates must satisfy these requirements:

- Apply for licensure in the state or territory in which you wish to be licensed.
- Meet all of the board of nursing's eligibility requirements to take the NCLEX examination.
- Register for the examination.

Registration Process Overview

1. Submit an application for licensure to the board of nursing in the state or territory where you wish to be licensed.
2. Register for the NCLEX Examination with Pearson VUE.
3. Receive Confirmation of Registration from Pearson VUE.
4. The board of nursing makes the candidate eligible to take the NCLEX.
5. Receive Authorization to Test (ATT) from Pearson VUE.

If you choose to provide an e-mail address at the time you register for the NCLEX examination (whether by mail, telephone, or through the Web), please note that all of your correspondence from Pearson VUE will arrive ONLY by e-mail. If you do not provide an e-mail address when you register, your correspondence from Pearson VUE will arrive ONLY through US mail.

If more than two weeks have passed after you have submitted a registration for an NCLEX examination and received confirmation from Pearson VUE, and you have not received an ATT, please call Pearson VUE at the appropriate number listed on the inside front cover.

Examination Fee and Registration Information

Fee

The fee for taking the NCLEX® examination is $200. You may also have to pay other fees for licensure required by the board of nursing in the jurisdiction in which you are applying. You must check with your board of nursing to find out about these fees. If you choose to schedule your NCLEX examination at an international test center, you will have to pay an international scheduling fee of $150 plus a Value Added Tax (VAT) where applicable. These fees will be charged when you schedule your examination appointment.

Registration Time Limit

All NCLEX examination registrations will remain open for a 365-day time period during which a board of nursing may determine the candidate's eligibility. The time period begins when the board of nursing receives the candidate's registration from the test service. Once a candidate is made eligible, he or she must test within the validity dates printed on the Authorization to Test (ATT).

If the board of nursing is unable to make you eligible within the 365-day time period, you must wait until your current registration expires before re-registering. A candidate may not have two NCLEX examination registrations (of the same exam type) open at the same time. If you re-register before your current registration expires, your second registration will be processed and denied, and the fee collected is non-refundable.

Candidates who are not made eligible by their board of nursing within the 365-day time period will forfeit their registrations, including the registration fee. Candidates who wish to take an NCLEX examination will need to re-register and re-pay the examination fee.

How to Register for the NCLEX Examination

1. Submit an application for licensure to the board of nursing in the state or territory in which you wish to be licensed. Be sure to meet that board of nursing's application deadline.
2. If you choose to provide an e-mail address at the time you register for the NCLEX examination (whether by mail, telephone, or through the Web), please note that all of your subsequent correspondence from Pearson VUE will arrive ONLY by e-mail. If you do not provide an e-mail address when you register, your correspondence from Pearson VUE will arrive ONLY through US mail.

Print your last (family) name, first name, and your middle name in the spaces provided and completely fill in the corresponding circles. Print one letter clearly in each box. Leave blank spaces between each part of your name. If any of your names are too long to fit in the boxes provided, print as much as will fit. If you have had a name change, and have been made eligible by your board of nursing, you must submit the name change to your board of nursing and request a new ATT from the NCLEX Call Center. Do not call or write NCLEX Candidate Services with this information. NOTE: The name on the ATT must match the name on the identification you will present at the test center.

How to Schedule Your NCLEX® Examination Appointment

Authorization to Test (ATT)

After your board of nursing declares you eligible, you will receive your ATT. If you choose to provide an e-mail address, please note that all of your correspondence from Pearson VUE will arrive ONLY by e-mail. If you do not provide an e-mail address your correspondence will arrive ONLY through US mail. You must have your ATT to schedule an appointment to take the NCLEX examination and you must present your ATT at the test center on the day of your exami-

Remember:

You will not be admitted to the examination without your Authorization to Test and proper identification. If you arrive without these materials, you will be required to re-register and re-pay the examination fee of $200.

Candidates with Special Needs

Testing accommodations for candidates with special needs will only be made with the authorization of your board of nursing and NCSBN.

Do not schedule an appointment to take the NCLEX® examination until you have received written confirmation of your accommodations and your ATT indicating 'Accommodations Granted'.

Candidates approved for testing with special accommodations must schedule their testing appointment through the NCLEX Accommodations Coordinator by calling NCLEX Candidate Services at one of the telephone numbers listed on the inside front cover of this Candidate Bulletin and asking for the NCLEX Accommodations Coordinator.

Please note: candidates who need to test with accommodations cannot schedule their appointments through the NCLEX Candidate Web site.

Schedule for Changing Your Appointment

For examinations scheduled on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, call at least 24 hours prior to the day and time of your appointment.

For examinations scheduled on Saturday, Sunday, or Monday, call no later than Friday at least 24 hours in advance of your appointment time.

Group Scheduling

Group scheduling (5 or more candidates) must be done through the Pearson VUE Group Scheduling Coordinator. For further information please send a fax to the attention of Group Scheduling Coordinator at 952-681-3899.

nation to be admitted to the examination. You will not be admitted to the examination without your ATT and will be required to re-register and re-pay to take the examination.

Call NCLEX Candidate Services at one of the telephone numbers listed on the inside front cover of the Candidate Bulletin to report a lost ATT or if it has been two weeks since you registered and have not received your ATT.

The ATT contains your test authorization number, candidate identification number, and an expiration date. Each ATT is valid for a period of time specified by the state board of nursing (varies from 60 days to 365 days; however, the average is 90 days). Once the board of nursing declares you eligible to test and your ATT is issued, you must test within the validity dates of your ATT. These validity dates cannot be extended for any reason.

Scheduling Your NCLEX Examination Appointment

When scheduling your examination appointment, you should plan for a testing session that may last a maximum of six hours if you are taking the NCLEX-RN® examination, or five hours for the NCLEX-PN® examination. Candidates should make appointments to test as soon as possible after receiving their ATTs even if they do not want to test immediately.

WARNING: Test centers may fill up quickly because of high volumes and previously scheduled special events. Waiting to call to schedule your testing appointment may significantly limit the dates the center can seat you. Additionally, if you wait until your ATT is close to expiring, Pearson Professional Centers may not be able to seat you prior to its expiration. If this occurs, you will be required to re-register and re-pay to take the examination.

You must test within the validity dates of your ATT. As stated previously: these validity dates cannot be extended for any reason.

First-time test takers must be offered an appointment within 30 days of the call to schedule an appointment, and repeat candidates must be offered an appointment within 45 days. If you wish, you may decline the appointment offered and schedule later than the 30 or 45 days.

Candidates with accommodations may not test as walk-ins.

Scheduling Procedure

Follow these procedures to schedule your NCLEX examination appointment.

1. You may take the examination at any Pearson Professional Center (PPC) located in the U.S. or its territories, or an approved international Pearson Professional test center. You can find the Pearson Professional Centers locations and addresses on the NCLEX Candidate Web site. You may schedule an appointment to take your NCLEX examination at any center. You do not have to take the examination in the same jurisdiction in which you are seeking licensure.
2. If you choose to schedule your examination at an international test center, you will be charged an additional non-refundable international scheduling fee of $150. If applicable, a Value Added Tax (VAT) may be charged for this examination. Please be aware that once you have an appointment at an international test center, and you decide to re-schedule to a test center in the U.S.A. or its territories, you will not receive a refund for the $150 scheduling fee.
3. Examination appointments at test centers in the U.S.A. or its territories can be scheduled through the NCLEX Candidate Web site (www.pearsonvue.com/nclex) or by calling NCLEX Candidate Services at one of the telephone numbers listed on the inside front cover of this Candidate Bulletin. You can only schedule an appointment for international test centers by telephone through the international scheduling group. (Walk-ins will not be accepted at international test centers).
You cannot schedule your examination appointment until you receive the ATT. Have your ATT available when you schedule.
4. If you are using the NCLEX Candidate Web site to schedule, you will be asked to supply your user ID and password, which you will receive with your Acknowledgement of Receipt of NCLEX® Examination Registration. You also will be asked your preference for date and time of testing at the Pearson Professional Center of your choice.

5. If you schedule via the telephone, call NCLEX Candidate Services at one of the telephone numbers listed on the inside front cover of this Candidate Bulletin. You will be asked to supply your name and your ATT number, along with other information to verify your identity. You also will be asked your preference for date and time of testing at the Pearson Professional Center of your choice.
6. If your first-choice date or time is unavailable, you will be offered an alternative as close to your first choice as possible.
7. On the bottom of your ATT, make a note of when and at which Pearson Professional Center you have been scheduled for the examination. Be sure to ask for directions if you need them.
8. A confirmation of your appointment will be sent to you from Pearson VUE via e-mail if you chose to receive your correspondence via e-mail by providing an e-mail address or by US mail if you did not provide an e-mail address. Verify that all the information is correct. Contact NCLEX Candidate Services immediately to correct any errors to your appointment.

Procedure for Changing Your NCLEX® Examination Appointment

If you need to change your appointment date, time or location, you may go to the NCLEX® Candidate Web site (www.pearsonvue.com/nclex) or call NCLEX Candidate Services at one of the telephone numbers listed on the inside front cover of this Candidate Bulletin one full business day (24 hours) prior to your scheduled appointment. Follow the schedule in the side column on page 8 if you need to change your appointment.

Candidates with appointments at an international test center must call the international scheduling group in order to change their appointment. Candidates who have appointments at an international test center may re-schedule to another international test center without forfeiting their $150 international scheduling fee. If you choose to re-schedule your examination to a test center within the United States or its territories, you will forfeit your $150 fee.

If you have an appointment at one of the test centers in the U.S. or its territories and choose to re-schedule to an international test center, you will be charged a non-refundable $150 international scheduling fee and any applicable Value Added Tax (VAT).

If you are a candidate who has received special accommodations, ask for the NCLEX Accommodations Coordinator in order to change your appointment.

If you fail to arrive for your examination appointment or fail to reschedule/unschedule without giving the appropriate notice (as outlined in the schedule in the side column on page 8), you will forfeit your examination fee (and international scheduling fee if applicable) and your ATT will be invalidated. You will be required to re-register and re-pay the examination fee of $200. Your failure to take the examination will be reported to the board of nursing where you have applied for licensure.

PLEASE NOTE: Leaving a message on an answering machine does not constitute giving the required notice for rescheduling or unscheduling your testing appointment. You must either reschedule or unschedule your appointment on the NCLEX Candidate Web site or by speaking with an agent at NCLEX Candidate Services.

No Refunds

There will be no refund of the $200 examination fee for any reason. This policy also applies to the international scheduling fee of $150. See page 3 for details about the refund policy.

All candidates must adhere to these regulations:

- Unauthorized scratch paper may not be brought into the testing room.
- Note boards and markers will be provided by the test center staff. Note boards may not be removed from the test center.
- Candidates may not leave the testing room without the test administrator's permission.
- Candidates must provide a fingerprint each time they enter the testing room.

Grounds for Dismissal or Cancellation of Results

An examinee who engages in irregular behavior and/or does not heed the administrator's warning to discontinue inappropriate behavior may be dismissed from the test center or have examination results voided. All of the following behaviors are considered to be irregular behavior:

- Giving or receiving assistance of any kind.
- Using any prohibited aids. Prohibited aids are any devices or materials that will be helpful in taking the NCLEX® examination. Examples of aids that are prohibited are handheld calculators, conversion tables, dictionaries, etc.
- Attempting to take the examination for someone else.
- Bringing any NCLEX examination study materials (textbooks, notebooks, classroom notes, etc.) to the testing center or accessing or attempting to access such study materials at any time after the start of the examination administration, including, but not limited to, break times.
- Failing to follow testing regulations or the instructions of the test administrator.
- Creating a disturbance of any kind.

Personal Identification and Examination Security

Because of the importance of the NCLEX® examination, numerous security measures will be enforced during the administration of the examination. Strict candidate identification requirements have been established.

Your Name

The printed name on your identification must match exactly the printed name on your ATT (see page 4 for more name information). If your name with which you have registered is different from the name on your identification, you must bring legal name change documentation with you to the test center on the day of your test. The only acceptable forms of legal documentation are: marriage license, divorce decree and/or court action legal name change documents. All documents must be in English. All documents must be the original document. Candidates wishing to make a legal name change, address change or e-mail address change must contact their board of nursing. This cannot be done at the test center.

Identification Requirements

When you arrive at the test center, you will be required to present one form of acceptable identification from the list below. You will also be required to present your valid ATT. You will not be admitted to the examination without the proper identification and your ATT; if either of these requirements is not met, you will be turned away; if you arrive without these materials, you will be required to re-register and re-pay the examination fee of $200. If you paid the international scheduling fee of $150, that will be forfeited as well.

Acceptable Identification

The only acceptable forms of identification are listed below. Your identification must be printed in English language letters, must be valid and unexpired (clearly stated), and have a recent photograph and a signature signed in English.

- Valid (not expired) driver's license with photo and signature.

- Valid (not expired) state/province identification (ID) card with photo and signature.
- Valid (not expired) passport with photo and signature.
- Valid (not expired) United States military identification with photo and visible signature, not imbedded.
- Valid (not expired) National identity card with photo and signature (in English language letters).

No other identification is acceptable for admittance to the NCLEX examination. Learner permits are not acceptable identification for admittance to the NCLEX examination. ID's from countries on the United States government's list of embargoed countries will not be accepted.

Additional Precautions

Additional security measures that will be taken at the test centers include:

- A digital fingerprint, signature and photograph will be taken at the test center and will accompany your examination result. Your fingerprint, signature and photograph may be used to confirm your identity by the board of nursing to which you have applied for licensure. You cannot be tested without having your fingerprint, signature and photograph taken.
- You will be observed at all times while taking the examination. This observation will include direct observation by test center staff as well as video and audio recording of your examination session.

The Day of the Examination

The staff members at each Pearson Professional Center follow designated procedures to ensure that the operation of the test center meets NCSBN criteria for standardized testing.

The following are procedures that will be followed when you arrive at the Pearson Professional Center for your NCLEX® examination appointment.

1. Plan to arrive at the Pearson Professional Center at least 30 minutes before your scheduled testing time. If you arrive more than 30 minutes after your scheduled appointment, you may be required to forfeit your NCLEX examination appointment.

If you forfeit your examination appointment you will be required to re-register and re-pay the examination fee. Your failure to take the examination will be reported to the board of nursing where you have applied for licensure.

2. Friends, relatives or children who accompany you to the test center will not be permitted to wait in the test center or contact you while you are taking the examination.
3. You will be required to present your ATT and your valid picture identification in English that includes your signature in English.
4. You will be asked to provide your signature, and you will have your fingerprint and photograph taken. Hats, scarves and coats may not be worn in the testing room or while your photograph is being taken.
5. You will be required to leave your personal belongings outside the testing room. Secure storage will be provided. Storage space is small, so candidates should plan appropriately. Pearson Professional Centers assumes no responsibility for candidates' personal belongings. If you leave the testing room for any reason, you will be required to have your fingerprint taken when you leave, and again when re-entering the testing room.

Do not take textbooks or notebooks containing NCLEX examination study materials to the test center as such items are considered prohibited testing aids; doing so may result in dismissal or cancellation of your testing results.

6. The test administrator (TA) will provide you with an erasable note board that may be replaced as needed during testing. You may not take your own note boards, scratch paper or writing instruments to the examination, nor may you remove the note board from the testing room at any time. Turn in your note board to the TA after you complete testing.

7. You will have up to six hours to complete the NCLEX-RN® examination, and five hours to complete the NCLEX-PN® examination; total examination time includes a short tutorial, two preprogrammed optional breaks and any unscheduled breaks you may take. The first optional break is offered after two hours of testing. The second optional break is offered after three and one-half hours of testing. The computer will automatically tell you when these scheduled breaks begin.

All breaks count against testing time.

When you take a break, you must leave the testing room, and you will be required to provide a fingerprint before and after your break.

8. The TA will give you a short orientation and then will escort you to a computer terminal. You must remain in your seat during the examination, except when authorized to leave by test center staff. You may not change your computer terminal unless a TA directs you to do so.

PLEASE NOTE: On rare occasions, technical problems may require rescheduling of a candidate's examination. If circumstances arise causing you to wait more than 30 minutes after your scheduled appointment time, or a restart delay lasts longer than 30 minutes, you will be given the choice of continuing to wait or rescheduling your appointment without an additional fee.

- If you choose to wait, you may later change your mind at any time prior to beginning or restarting the examination.
- If you choose not to reschedule, but rather test after a delay, you will have no further recourse and your testing results will be considered valid.
- If you choose to reschedule your appointment or the problem causing the delay cannot be resolved, you will be allowed to test at a later date, at no additional charge.

Every attempt will be made to contact candidates if technical problems are identified prior to a scheduled appointment.

9. Raise your hand to notify the TA if you:
 - Believe you have a problem with your computer.

- Copying, reconstructing or removing examination items and/or responses (in any format) or notes about the examination from the testing room or attempting to do the same.
- Tampering with the operation of the computer or attempting to use it for any function other than taking the examination.

Confidentiality

Candidates should be aware and understand that the disclosure of any examination materials including the nature or content of examination items, before, during, or after the examination is a violation of law. A violation of this type can result in a civil liability and/or disciplinary actions by the licensing agency including the denial of licensure.

Using the Computer

The NCLEX® examination is given on a computer. You are not expected to know how to use a computer before you take the examination. A tutorial will be included as part of the examination. The tutorial will instruct you on the use of the mouse and how to record an answer.

Even after the examination starts, you will be able to request assistance at any time regarding the operation of the computer. In addition to the traditional four option multiple choice items, the tutorial will include information on how to respond to different types of item formats called alternate items. Another computer function is the on-screen optional calculator. Again, the application of this calculator will be reviewed in the tutorial prior to the beginning of the examination.

NCLEX Examination Tutorial

The tutorial can be reviewed any time prior to the examination at www.pearsonvue.com/nclex.

- Need to change note boards.
- Need to take a break.
- Need the administrator for any reason.

10. After your examination is finished, you will be asked to complete a brief computer-delivered questionnaire about your testing experience.
11. When you have finished the questionnaire, raise your hand to summon the TA. The TA will collect and inventory all note boards. The TA will dismiss you when all requirements are fulfilled.
12. You may ask the TA for a Confidential Comment Sheet for any narrative information about your testing session you want to provide to NCSBN, the Pearson Professional Centers or NCLEX Candidate Services.

PLEASE NOTE: Pearson Professional Centers administer many types of examinations including some that require essay-type responses. Pearson Professional Centers have no control over noises made by candidates typing during another examination. Typing noise is considered a normal part of the computerized testing environment, just as the noise of turning pages is a normal part of the paper-and-pencil testing environment. Earplugs are available upon request.

Questions About Your Testing Session

If you have questions about your testing session, please contact NCSBN within two weeks of your testing appointment.

Results Reporting

For quality control purposes, every computerized NCLEX examination is scored twice; once by the computer at the test center and then the result is verified after the examination record has been transmitted to Pearson VUE.

Although the examination is scored as the candidate completes each item, NO RESULTS are released at the test center. In fact, test center staff do not have access to the examination results. Examination results, available ONLY from your board of nursing, will be mailed to candidates approximately one month after taking the examination. DO NOT CALL your board of nursing, NCLEX

Candidate Services, the Pearson Professional Centers or NCSBN for examination results.

Candidate Performance Report

When a candidate fails, the board of nursing sends the candidate a Candidate Performance Report (CPR). This report identifies the performance as failing, provides the number of items administered to the candidate, and a summary of the candidate's relative strengths and weaknesses based on the test plan. It is hoped that failing candidates can use this information to help guide their study before retaking the examination.

Retake Policy

Candidates must wait a minimum of 45 or 90 days between each examination. The determination of the minimum frequency within which a candidate may retake the examination is established by policy by each individual board of nursing and NCSBN.

Additional Information About the NCLEX® Examination

Examination Length

Both the NCLEX-RN® and the NCLEX-PN® are variable length adaptive tests. The NCLEX examinations are not offered in paper and pencil or oral examination formats. An NCLEX-RN examination can be anywhere from 75 to 265 items long. Of these items, 15 are pretest items that are not scored. Regardless of the number of items administered, the time limit for this examination is six hours. An NCLEX-PN examination can be anywhere from 85 to 205 items long. Of these items, 25 are pretest items that are not scored. The time limit for this examination is five hours. It is important to note that the time allotted for the examination includes the tutorial, the sample items, all breaks (restroom, stretching, etc.) and the examination. All breaks are optional.

The length of your examination is determined by your responses to the items. Once the minimum number of items has been answered, testing will stop when the candidate's ability is determined to be either above or below the passing standard with 95% certainty. Depending upon the particular pattern of correct and incorrect responses, different candidates will take different numbers of items and therefore use varying amounts of time. Of course, the examination will stop when the maximum number of items has been taken or when the time limit has been reached. Remember, it is in the candidate's best interest to maintain a reasonable pace, of spending only one or two minutes on each item. The candidates should select a pace that will permit them to complete the examination within the allotted time should the maximum number of items be administered.

It is important to understand that the length of your examination is not an indication of a pass or fail result. A candidate with a relatively short examination may pass or fail just as the candidate with a long examination may pass or fail. Regardless of the length of the examination, each candidate is given an examination that conforms to the respective NCLEX test plan (RN or PN) and has ample opportunity to demonstrate his or her ability.

The Passing Standard

The NCLEX-RN and NCLEX-PN are separate examinations that reflect different scopes of practice. Accordingly, these examinations are scored on separate scales and have separate passing standards. The NCSBN Board of Directors re-evaluates these standards once every three years. The criterion that the Board uses to set the standard is the minimum level of ability required for safe and effective entry-level nursing practice.

To assist the Board of Directors in making this decision, the Board is provided with information on 1) the results of a standard setting exercise performed by a panel of experts with the assistance of professional psychometricians, 2) the historical record of the passing standard with summaries of the candidate performance associated with those standards, 3) the results of a standard setting survey sent to educators and employers, and 4) information describing the educational readiness of high school graduates who express an interest in nursing.

Once the passing standard is set, it is imposed uniformly on every test record according to the procedures laid out in the Scoring the NCLEX Examination section on page 15. To pass a NCLEX examination, a candidate must perform above the passing standard. There is no fixed percentage of candidates that pass or fail each examination.

Similar Items

Occasionally, a candidate may receive an item that seems to be very similar to an item they received earlier in the examination. This could happen for a variety of reasons. For example, several items could be about similar symptoms, diseases, or disorders, yet address different phases of the nursing process. Alternatively, a pretest (unscored) item could be about content similar to an operational (scored) item. It is incorrect to assume that a second item, which is similar in content to a previously administered item, is administered because you answered the first item incorrectly. Always select the answer you believe to be correct for each item administered. All examinations conform to their respective test plan (NCLEX-RN® or NCLEX-PN®).

Reviewing Answers and Guessing

The items are presented to you one at a time on a computer screen. You can view each item as long as you like, but you cannot go back to a previous item once you have selected your answer and confirmed it by pressing the <NEXT> button. You must answer every item even if you are not sure of the right answer. The computer will not allow you to go on to the next item without answering the one on the screen. If you are unsure of the correct answer, make your best guess and move on to the next item. After you select an answer to an item, you do have a chance to think about your answer and change it as many times as you like. However, once you confirm your answer and go on to the next item, you will not be allowed to go back to any previous item on the examination.

PLEASE NOTE: Rapid guessing can drastically lower your score. Some test preparation companies have realized that on certain pencil and paper tests, unanswered items are marked as wrong. To improve the candidate's

Developing the Examination

Steps in the development of NCLEX® examinations are outlined below.

1. To determine the basis for safe and effective entry-level nursing practice, NCSBN conducts a practice analysis of newly licensed nurses every three years. The legal scope of nursing practice and results of the practice analysis are used to develop a NCLEX test plan. Test plans, which outline the content categories and percentage of test items allocated to the categories, reflect the job-related knowledge, skills and abilities required for safe and effective entry-level job performance.
2. Item writers are practicing nurses who use the detailed test plan to write items that test entry-level nursing practice for the RN or PN examination.
3. A second expert panel of practicing nurses then reviews the newly-written items. The second review is to ensure that each item reflects current entry-level nursing practice as well as one, and only one, correct answer.
4. All items used in an examination have been pretested and are shown to have met NCSBN statistical criteria before being used as operational (scored) items.

score when they are running out of time, these companies sometimes advocate rapid guessing (perhaps without even reading the item) in the hope that the candidate will get at least a few items correct. On any adaptive test, this can be disastrous! It has the effect of giving the candidate easier items, which they also get wrong. The best advice is to 1) maintain a reasonable pace, perhaps one item every minute or two, and 2) carefully read and consider each item before answering. It is better to run out of time than to engage in rapid guessing.

NCLEX® Test Plans

The 2004 NCLEX-RN® Test Plan and the 2005 NCLEX-PN® Test Plan are documents that describe the scope and content of the examinations. Copies of the test plans may be downloaded from the NCSBN Web site, www.ncsbn.org, at no cost.

Obtaining the Detailed NCLEX® Test Plan

Publications that provide expanded information on the NCLEX-RN and NCLEX-PN examinations are available for purchase by accessing the NCSBN Web site: www.ncsbn.org for ordering information, or by writing to the National Council of State Boards of Nursing, 111 E. Wacker Drive, Suite 2900, Chicago, IL 60601.

Test Content

The practice of nursing requires knowledge of the health needs of clients as well as an understanding of integrated processes fundamental to nursing practice. Client Needs is used as the framework for both RN and PN test plans. NCLEX-RN and NCLEX-PN examinations may include items written at various cognitive levels.^{1,2} The majority of items are written at the application or higher levels of cognitive ability levels. In general, if the age or age category of the client is not stated in an item, it can be understood that the client is an adult. For NCLEX examina-

Client Needs Categories Covered on the NCLEX Examinations

Four major “Client Needs” categories organize the content of the 2004 NCLEX-RN® and 2005 NCLEX-PN® Test Plans. In the 2004 NCLEX-RN® Test Plan and the 2005 NCLEX-PN® Test Plan, two of the categories are divided into a total of six subcategories. “Health Promotion and Maintenance” and “Psychosocial Integrity” do not have subcategories. The following processes are integrated into all “Client Needs” categories of the 2004 NCLEX-RN® Test Plan: Caring, Communication and Documentation, Nursing Process, and Teaching and Learning. For the 2005 NCLEX-PN® Test Plan, the integrated processes are: Clinical Problem Solving Process (Nursing Process), Caring, Communication and Documentation, and Teaching and Learning.

For the 2004 NCLEX-RN® Test Plan

NCLEX-RN Client Needs	Percentage of Items From Each Category/ Subcategory
Safe Effective Care Environment
▪ Management of Care	13-19%
▪ Safety and Infection Control	8-14%
Health Promotion and Maintenance	6-12%
Psychosocial Integrity	6-12%
Physiological Integrity
▪ Basic Care and Comfort	6-12%
▪ Pharmacological and Parenteral Therapies	13-19%
▪ Reduction of Risk Potential	13-19%
▪ Physiological Adaptation	11-17%

For the 2005 NCLEX-PN® Test Plan

NCLEX-PN Client Needs	Percentage of Items From Each Category/ Subcategory
Safe and Effective Care Environment
▪ Coordinated Care	11-17%
▪ Safety and Infection Control	8-14%
Health Promotion and Maintenance	7-13%
Psychosocial Integrity	8-14%
Physiological Integrity

▪ Pharmacological Therapies	9-15%
▪ Reduction of Risk Potential	10-16%
▪ Physiological Adaptation	12-18%

tions, “prescription” is defined as the documented directions or orders given by health care providers to caregivers for interventions, remedies and/or treatments for the client. The percentages of items relating to the various aspects of the test plan are presented in the tables below.

Scoring the NCLEX® Examination

Computerized Adaptive Testing (CAT)

The NCLEX® examination is different than a traditional “pencil and paper” examination. Typically, pencil and paper examinations administer the same items to every candidate, thus ensuring that the difficulty of the examination is the same across the board. Because the difficulty of the examination is constant, the percentage correct is the indicator of the candidate’s ability. One disadvantage of this approach is that it is inefficient. It requires the high ability candidates to answer all the easy items on the examination. Obviously, asking high ability candidates easy items provides very little information about their ability. Another disadvantage is that guessing can artificially inflate the scores of low ability candidates. This happens because low ability candidates will be given some difficult items. In the case of multiple-choice items, candidates can answer these items correctly 25% of the time for reasons that have nothing to do with their ability. (There are only four choices.) Instead, the NCLEX examination uses Computerized Adaptive Testing (CAT) to administer the items. CAT is able to produce test results that are more stable using fewer items by targeting items to the candidate’s ability. Although everyone’s first item is relatively easy, subsequent items are better targeted. This is accomplished by re-estimating the candidate’s ability every time an item is answered. Using the candidate’s most current ability estimate, the computer searches the item bank for an item that has a degree of difficulty that is approximately equal to that ability estimate. As a result, the candidate should have a 50-50 chance of answering this item correctly. After the candidate answers this item, the computer re-estimates the candidate’s ability and selects the next item using the same procedures. This process continues until it is clear (with 95% certainty) that the candidate’s ability is above or below the passing standard. Be aware that both passers and failures tend to answer approximately 50% of the items correctly. This is because the computer presents all candidates with items that are matched to their ability.

The candidate’s ability estimate is based upon both the percentage of items answered correctly (approx 50% in most cases) and the difficulty of the items that were administered. Imagine the items lined up, from easiest to most difficult. If we asked candidates the easiest items, they would answer most of them correctly. If we asked them the most difficult items, they would probably answer most of them incorrectly. Somewhere between those two extremes is a point at which the candidate goes from getting more answers right than wrong. This is the point at which each candidate answers 50 percent correctly. Items harder than that would probably be answered incorrectly; items easier than that would probably be answered correctly. CAT procedures permit that point to be found for each candidate without having to ask all the items in the extremes.

Pretest Items

Of course for CAT to work, the difficulty of each item must be known in advance. The degree of difficulty is determined by administering the items as “pretest items” to a large sample of NCLEX candidates. Because the difficulty of these pretest items is not known in advance, these items are not included when estimating the candidate’s ability or making pass-fail decisions. When enough responses are collected, the pretest items are statistically analyzed and calibrated. If the pretest items meet the NCLEX statistical standards, they can be administered in future examinations as

Client RN - individual, family or group

Client PN - individuals, families and significant others

Nursing Diagnosis - A classification of client needs and/or problems according to presumed natural relationships; e.g., use of North American Nursing Diagnoses Association (NANDA) Definitions and Classifications scored items. There are 15 pretest items on every NCLEX-RN examination and 25 on every NCLEX-PN examination. It is impossible to distinguish operational items from pretest items, so do your best on every item.

Additional Constraints

In addition to targeting items to the candidate's ability, the computer implements two additional constraints. First, it prevents a candidate from receiving for a second time any item that they have seen within the last year (on a previous attempt). Second, it ensures that the items administered to the candidate meet the test plan specifications with regard to the proportion of items that must be from the different test plan categories. Every test must meet the test plan specifications.

Passing and Failing

As mentioned earlier, to pass the NCLEX, the candidate's performance on the examination must be above the passing standard. Ideally, NCSBN wants to be at least 95% certain of pass-fail decisions. Therefore after the minimum number of items has been answered, the computer will stop when it is 95% certain that the candidate's ability is above or below the passing standard. If they are above the standard, they pass; if they are below the standard, they fail. Candidates with very high or very low abilities tend to receive minimum length tests.

However, some candidates will have a true ability that is so close to the passing standard that even 1,000 items would not be enough to arrive at a decision with 95% confidence. It would also be impractical to administer 1,000 items. Therefore, a maximum number of items have been established (see Examination Length) for each type of examination. When candidates answer the maximum number of items, their ability estimates are rather precise, but not enough to make a decision with 95% certainty. Because in these cases the precision is quite good; the 95% certainty requirement is waived. If their ability estimate is above the passing standard, they pass; if it is at or below the passing standard, they fail.

If the examination ends because time runs out, it means that the candidate has not demonstrated with 95% certainty that they are clearly above or below the passing standard, nor has the candidate answered the maximum number of items. Because the primary mission of boards of nursing is to protect the public, it can be argued that candidates should not pass when they have not demonstrated that they are competent. However, the response patterns for some of these people have indicated that there are candidates that appeared to have a "true ability" that is above passing and who have been performing consistently above the passing standard. A mechanism is provided for these candidates to pass. The key word here is "consistently." If a candidate's performance has been consistently above the passing standard, then he or she will pass, despite having run out of time.

Scoring Items

The majority of NCLEX examination items are multiple-choice, but there are other formats as well. Items are scored as either right or wrong. There is no "partial credit".

Examination Items

During the administration of the NCLEX-RN® and NCLEX-PN® examinations candidates will be required to respond to items in a variety of formats. The majority of the items are multiple-choice, but there are other formats as well. All item formats may include charts, tables, or graphic images.

The sample items on the next pages are examples of the types of item formats which may be on the NCLEX-RN and NCLEX-PN examinations.
