verb conjugation in The Present Tense

LESSON 2

The verb endings, in bold type below, are always the same, no matter which verb, no matter which tense.

The verbs Ir & Ser are very special verbs, and they are always treated differently. Also, the Preterite tense has to be learned separately, because it does not follow patterns like the other tenses.

COMER: to eat

		Presente	Imperfecto	Futuro	Condicional
Yo (I)	como	comía		comeré	comería
Tú (You)	comes S	comías		comerás	comerías S
El, ella, Vd. (He, She, You)	coma	comía		comerá	comería a/e
Nosotros (We)	comemos	comíamos		comeremos	comeríamos MOS
Vosotros (You all)	coméis	comíais	comeréis	comeríais	IS
Ellos, ellas, Vds. (They, You)	comen	comían		comerán	comerían N

NOTE: "Yo" ending (unpredictable)

Any other verb ending (other than s, a/e, mos, is, n, or R) would be the Yo ending.

(EXCEPT: In the Preterite tense, and with the verbs, Ir & Ser)

LESSON 2

Matching Verb Endings & Subjects

So we can say :

S =	Tú	(You)
a/e=	Vd., él, OR ella	(You- sir, ma'am, He, She)
N =	Vds. ellos, OR ellas	(You all; They)
MOS =	Nosotros	(We)
IS=	Vosotros	(You all)
R=	The VerbName	(To)

* EXCEPT: (i) In past tenses the 'yo' form often has the same ending as the 'Vd., él, ella ' form.; (ii) In the Future tense the 'yo' ending is "é".

LESSON 2

Finding Meaning and Subjects in Verbs

In every verb we can find at least two things that help us understand it:

Meaning (the first part of the verb)

Subject (the verb ending)

LESSON 2

Finding Meaning and Subjects in Verbs

Although each form of this verb (below) looks very different you know they all have the same basic meaning ("eat"), by looking at the first part of the verb, "com":

EXAMPLE

COMER: to eat
