

Research Paper Writing Services | 100% Original & American Writers

Qualifications and Skills

The best writers of college essays are college graduates who can help students regardless of the year of study which they are in. You should look for a specialist in the academic discipline which your essay is for, especially if you are in your third or fourth year as the courses are advanced and require deep understanding of the subject matter. If you can find someone with a major in the same discipline that would be awesome. Given that many writers are actually graduate students this should not be that hard.

The fact that someone is good in a specific discipline like history or biology doesn't automatically make her a good writer, however. The best professionals in this field also have excellent research, analytical and writing skills. You can tell this by their essays. They have original thesis statements, a logical flow throughout, a logical argument based on clearly presented evidence and a unique writing style. Given all this, it is mandatory to request samples before hiring a writer even if she has great reviews from previous customers.

Provided Services

The top professionals write essays from scratch following your instructions and requirements. If something isn't exactly how you want it in the end, then you will be entitled to revision which is typically free. You can also modify the essay yourself so that it appears more like your own work. In fact, you can do anything with it as you will be its sole owner.
