

Quia Student Zone:

Parents / Students:

Quia student zone log in: <http://www.quia.com/web/studentZoneBegin.html> is a site with Quia that lets the student and parent view each class they are assigned to. It will show all completed work that has been scored and placed in the Quia gradebook.

You enter this page by using the student's username and password. Once open you will see each class page the student has been assigned to. Open the class page and you will see all the graded work the student has completed.

To see the actual assignment as graded there is a small box to the left of the assignment that is black in color and has black horizontal lines in it. Click on this and the assignment will open.

The one problem with the student zone, and I have contacted Quia about this, is it does not show the assignments assigned but not completed by the student. It will give their average grade on what they completed only. In the Quia grade book any assignment not completed by the students receives a zero percent.

You will know that there are missing assignments if the averages on the student zone does not match the average on Renweb.

To help with this problem every weekend I am attaching to each Quia page a copy of assignments assigned. You can check this list against the list on the student zone site and anything not listed on the student zone site is missing and counts as a zero.

Miss Laughlin